

Grandparents raising grandchildren: Stressors, social support, and health outcomes

S Leder, LN Grinstead, E Torres - Journal of Family Nursing, 2007 - journals.sagepub.com

The major purpose of this study was to identify predictors of grandparent caregiver health status. Additional purposes were to describe the physical and emotional health of grandparent caregivers and the perceived benefits of support group attendance. A convenience sample of 42 grandparents was recruited from support groups. Data were collected through telephone interviews. Grandparents who had higher parenting stress reported lower levels of physical, social, and mental health. Inverse correlations were ...
